

Getting more education/training after high school...

- gives you more choices...more careers, higher paying jobs, and jobs you like
- helps you find your passion and explore your interests
- makes you a more open-minded individual
- makes you a happier and healthier individual
- makes you a more cultural individual
- gives you the opportunity to meet new people
- increases your confidence
- increases your social status
- decreases government dependency
- decreases your chances of becoming a criminal and/or being incarcerated
- helps you live a comfortable life
- enhances your knowledge and skills

Bad reasons not to get more education/training after high school...

- you do not know what you want to do with your life
- you were never a very good student
- nobody in your family pursued higher education
- you think it is too expensive
- you think you will have a bad experience

"Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world." –Nelson Mandela
